From the Desk of Rabbi Bruce Benson

Having just returned from an astounding, but tiring trip, several TBEI members joined with me on a trip to our past. We visited multiple Holocaust sites and myriad museums. It was physically tiring and spiritually draining.

The emotions ran the gamut from a light joyfulness, to an arrogance that we stood at history's ugliest places and intoned together, the Sh'ma, the Kaddish and other prayers of significance.

We stood in defiance of the wicked, we stood on hallowed ground stating, "We are with you even now". But, in looking at the state of the world through those glasses, I beg the Jewish world be careful. Many things around our world seem to be too close to the remembered..

Lack of concern for the unfortunate, children (around the world) used as pawns in political cycles, so many things happening in parallel around the world, seeming to come together in one ideological hub. We, as Jews, should be even more astutely aware than most, but there were times over there, where the history of the past started to feel like the nexus of the now.

It didn't make me afraid although that could be one response. It made me more resolute to live as a Jew in this world where unchecked venom is allowed to be spit out and allowed to cover real disagreements on the world and how it should be. Many of us have lived in a generation where the cuts and tears to our Jewish souls were too close and too painful to want to speak about. But please remember, when the umbrella of protection was turned upside down and became hateful, we were caught in its spokes.

It didn't make me afraid, it brought tears to my soul because, I can still hear a generation saying, "Never again!". We best heed that clarion call earlier this time than we did last time... It has sent me to the books on my shelves to begin to read, as quickly as I can turn the pages, the great prayers of our Siddurim, prayers we imagine were intoned by a generation before us, standing in pits, a thousand at a time, awaiting a humiliating death. They stole humiliation from the jaws of hatred and recited many prayers: V'ahavta eyt Adonai..... You shall love your God with all your heart.....

We, Jews of the 21st century, have a job to do. Make a pact with our ancestors who believed. Bring one Jew to our house, our synagogue, our temple family before Rosh Hashana. Bring one back - We, TBEI, and most certainly THEY, need it right now more than ever. The pride of standing tall as a Jew. Offer to take part in High Holiday services as a reader, or an usher or, even as a participant. Make a statement that we are proud, that we live, that we are here, and we belong.

All that said, have a restful summer- the holidays are late this year! Check inside for our calendar and plan early..

Rabbi Bruce

The President's Message.....

Those “lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer” are here. The heat beckons us to the beach, the pool, “up north,” or back inside to the air conditioning. We celebrate Independence Day, enjoying barbecues and fireworks. Children relish their time off from school.

Here at TBEI summer means the July and August Shofars are combined, Friday evening services begin at 7:00 p.m., and some things are put on hold (Sisterhood and Brotherhood general meetings, family services, and Ohel Moed).

Activities may slow down, but there is still plenty to do for those of us who remain in the area during the summer. We have our new outreach erev Shabbat services at Aycok at Tradition, Trivia Night, and Sisterhood’s Summer Mahjong/Card Party to name a few of our planned summer functions.

So check the Shofar and your email for information about these events (and more!) and join us during these “lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer.”

For more information about what's happening in the Temple check out the flyers in this issue of the Shofar

Let's greet and make visitors (and our own members) feel welcome when they come to services, in the social hall, after services or after special events.

Invite people you don't know to sit with you and get to know the people that come to our Temple. Saving seats in the Social Hall for the people we already know is not the way to meet and get to know our fellow congregants and guests.

SISTERHOOD NEWS

The TBEI Sisterhood Board for 2019-2020 has been elected as of July 1, 2019. Board members are busy planning for the year this summer and have begun meeting.

During July and August there will be an "Oneg" after the service Sponsored by Sisterhood.

Temple members can also sponsor an "Oneg" in July and August. Please inform the office and set the date, Sisterhood will help you with the details.

Our next meeting will be Tuesday, September 10th, topic to be determined. We welcome new ideas and possible program suggestions.

On the evening of Rosh Hashanah, Sept 29th Sisterhood will host the "Oneg" after the Rosh Hashanah service.

We look forward to a very satisfying and productive year serving TBEI.

See you at all Sisterhood functions, Friday night services and "Oneg" in the Social Hall.

Sincerely,

Co-Presidents - Belle Sidel and Maryanne Polk

You can celebrate your special occasion with your friends, fellow congregants and/or relatives at an Oneg on a Friday Night at TBEI.

For a minimum of $75 you can sponsor your special event. Why not sponsor an Oneg with friends for a joint celebration? Two weeks prior notice would be greatly appreciated.

*Can you spare an hour a month to help set-up the Oneg on Friday mornings?
The Sisterhood needs volunteers . If you're available let Belle or Maryann know.*

TBEI Sisterhood Book Club

There is no Book Club in July

The next meeting will be on
Tuesday, August 6, 2019 at 12:00 pm

The book to be discussed in August is:

The Girl from Berlin by Ronald H. Balson
For more information please call

Belle Sidel 772-785-5337 or Hermes Grayless 713-447-4507

BROTHERHOOD NEWS:

The new Brotherhood board takes office in July, and while there will be no general meetings during the summer, the board will be meeting to consider how to achieve several goals for 2019-2020: to increase the number of active members; to add some new, popular events to the calendar; and to raise more funds for Brotherhood activities and the Temple.

The next Brotherhood general meeting will be in September. In the meantime, enjoy your summer!

Ellis Bromberg - TBEI Brotherhood Co-president

Our Monthly TBEI Library Book Review.....by Sheilah Korinow

A year ago, I reviewed many of our fiction novels - just to let you know what our library contains in that field, some of which you would enjoy for your summer reading. At that time, I said I would give you an idea of what our library holds, written by some well-known Jewish authors - names such as: Sholom Aleichem, Saul Bellow, Chaim Potok, Philip Roth, Isaac Bashevis Singer, Leon Uris, Elie Wiesel and Herman Wouk. Due to space limitations in The Shofar and time limitations for myself, I will tell you "something" about a number of the books, and list the names of others. Here we go!

Sholom Aleichem

Marienbad - Written in 1911. this book has a "comic effect," talking about two cities - Warsaw and Marienbad. The story is told through 36 letters, 14 love notes, and 46 telegrams. It is about bourgeois life in the Jewish neighborhoods of Warsaw. and is told through the written communications of friends and relatives. The translator of this book writes in her Introduction: "Fawning friends become mortal enemies as the gossip flies through the mails. Secrets are exposed, confidences are betrayed, some marriages ruined, others cemented, and 'charlatans' have a heyday."

Favorite Tales of Sholem Aleichem, The Best of Sholom Aleichem, Selected Stories of Sholom Aleichem, and Happy New Year and Other Stories are some of the books in our library. His books of tales made him one of the greatest Yiddish writers of modern times. He is known as a "masterful storyteller" who attained his greatest achievement when he wrote his chronicle of Tevye the Dairyman and his seven daughters, which became the basis for the hit Broadway musical Fiddler on the Roof. A large proportion of his stories involve the towns and villages of Russia and Eastern Europe. Browse through the collections of stories. You will find them to be "funny, wise, sad, satirical," but in the end they are serious to some extent.

Other books by Sholom Aleichem are: Tevye's Daughters, the Great Fair, The Old Country, and Wandering Star.

Saul Bellow

Seize The Day - This book is about Tommy Wilhelm, separated from his wife and children, unemployed, at odds with his father and "at the end of his rope both financially and emotionally." He is a man "sinking more deeply into despair until a chance encounter grants him one glorious, illuminating moment of truth and understanding." This all happens on one day! Don't forget to read the Introduction, written by Cynthia Ozick. It helps you to appreciate Bellow and his works.

Chaim Potok

I know many of you have read The Chosen or My Name is Asher Lev, but our library contains other books such as:

In the Beginning - This familiarizes us with "the rich texture" of Jewish life in America from the 1920's, through the depression and World War II. (warning - small print)!

Davita's Harp - The place -NYC, the time -1930's, the main character - Davita, a woman who has parents dedicated to Communism (one is Jewish, the other is Gentile). Davita sees much in the world - the horrors that continue, yet she gravitates towards Judaism. As the book cover states: "In Davita's Harp, Chaim Potok brings to bear the insight and generosity that have informed all of his novels in a stirring and beautiful story about how we learn and use faith, how it can fail us, and how it can help us know ourselves - alone and as a part of an often confusing world."

Other books by Potok which our library contains are: The Promise, The Book of Lights, I am the Clay, and two others which I highly recommend - My Name is Asher Lev and The Chosen.

Philip Roth

The Plot Against America - Imagine an America that had Charles A. Lindbergh defeat Roosevelt for President by a landslide in the 1940 election. Imagine the fear in every Jewish American household because Lindbergh publicly blamed the Jews for pushing the United States toward a "pointless" war with Germany. Imagine his acceptance of Hitler's anti-Semitic policies. What kind of fear did Jewish families have? Our library also has Roth's When She Was Good.

Isaac Bashevis Singer

The Manor - This book is considered to be his "masterpiece" by many others. It tells the story of a "proud and passionate family" as they pursue tragic and triumphant destinies from Poland to New York City.

The Magician of Lublin - Here is the story about a "Houdini-like" popular performer who becomes a local celebrity. He is a Jew who has given up his religion and, away from his wife, he leads a life of "wine, women, and song." His story describes his biggest stunt - one which "takes him to the brink of disaster." This is his struggle with evil. The book is "a study of man's search for the Divine and of the perplexing ambiguities in his path."

Enemies, a Love Story - This is about Herman Broder, a man with three "wives" in NYC - one in the Bronx, one in Brooklyn, and one on 18th street in Manhattan. It is a "lusty, funny, fantastic" story taking place in Coney Island and New York. The New York Times wrote: "One is forever suspended between laughter and tears by this rich and marvelous novel."

Our library has quite a collection of his novels. There are also several which hold collections of his many wonderful stories. We also have his memoir, Lost in America, which starts with his life in the mid 30's when he lived and struggled in Poland and wanted to join his brother in New York. The memoir covers his trip over, going to a strange place and not knowing his future. He writes about the people he meets. Learn about his dangerous trip to Canada, where he smuggled himself across the border to get his permanent visa to the U.S. This is a book of "fascinating reminiscences and character sketches of one of the world's greatest writers."

The background of the flyer is a collage of Mahjong-related images. At the top, there are several Mahjong tiles: a 'Five of Wands' (伍萬), a 'Wind and Flower' tile with a circular pattern, a 'Five of Spades' (五), and a 'Five of Clubs' (五). On the right side, a woman in a yellow and black checkered outfit and crown holds a 'Green Peacock' tile. On the left side, there are more tiles: a 'Middle' tile (中), a 'Green Peacock' tile, and a 'Middle' tile. At the bottom, there are more tiles: a 'Three of Wands' (三萬), a 'Six of Wands' (六萬), a 'Nine of Wands' (九萬), and a 'Wind and Flower' tile with the characters '見我' (see me).

Leon Uris

QB VII - Read about an "electrifying" legal battle in Great Britain between a knighted doctor and a best-selling American author. It involves libel - the American author defamed the doctor in his book.

Mitla Pass - Travel from the pogroms of Russian shtetls to America and from Hollywood "in its heyday" to Israel in 1956. The book cover states that this book is "breathtaking in scope, painfully human, and alive with earthy humor."

Our library also contains other books by Uris such as: Trinity, The Haj, and, of course, Exodus - which some of you may want to read again.

Eli Wiesel

A Beggar in Jerusalem - Wiesel writes that this is a tale about a beggar who comes to Jerusalem. "It is an adventure of one madman, who one night saw not the end of all things, but their beginnings." It involves the Six Day War.

The Forgotten - This is a moving novel which involves a father losing his memory by disease and wants to tell his son his story before it is too late. It involves the period before World War II, and finally the secret trip to Palestine. In the book, the son tries to find out the truth about an act that was committed.

Twilight - In this book, we meet Raphael Lipkin, who has searched for years for Pedro, his friend who saved him from the Holocaust. We go to the sanitarium in upstate New York. Raphael remembers his family hiding from the Germans and others who were never seen again. The book moves from Poland to postwar Paris and Berlin. Raphael is really trying to understand "who is mad and who is sane and what it means to survive."

Our library has other books by Wiesel such as The Oath, The Fifth Son, The Judge (in large print), and Souls on Fire.

Herman Wouk

The Hope - Here we have a book of historical fiction. It covers the period from the 1948 War of Independence to the 1967 Six Day War. We see the major battles, the disasters and the victories. This book includes four Israeli army officers and the women they love. In the book, we read about people "crushing odds" - and so it is a "tale of hope for all mankind."

The Glory - This is a continuation of The Hope and covers the period from the aftermath of the 1967 victory, and through the battles of the Yom Kippur War, the Entebbe rescue, the Camp David Accords, and finally the celebration of 40 years of independence. We see the continuation of the lives of the people we met in The Hope. We see the events through their eyes. We also view the great portraits contained of actual world figures such as Golda Meir, Moshe Dayan, Anwar Sadat, Henry Kissinger, Ariel Sharon and David Elazar.

Above, I have reviewed other books of our fiction collection. Don't forget, these are prominent writers, well-known in the Jewish World. Our fiction collection holds the novels of many other writers - some of whom I mentioned in last summer's review of our library's fiction books. Also, remember the fiction section is located behind the door on the left as you enter the library. They are shelved in an alphabetical manner by author.

There are two ways to take home one or more books. If the book has already been classified (has a label with "fiction" and the name of the author, remove its card from the inside of the back cover, fill it out, and place it in the small wooden box on top of the file cabinet in the right corner as you enter the room. If the book is not yet classified, remove a slip of paper from the wooden box, fill it out, and put it back in the box. When you return the book, just leave it on top of the file cabinet.

MARTIN FUNERAL HOME & CREMATORY

Family owned and operated serving the families of Port St. Lucie, Fort Pierce, Jensen Beach, Palm City, Stuart and Hobe Sound

At a time when many funeral homes are owned by mega-corporations listed on the national stock exchanges, Martin Funeral Home & Crematory is bucking the trend by remaining the only locally family owned and operated funeral home and crematory established in Martin County and southern St. Lucie County. The owners feel strongly that they can serve Treasure Coast families better if they remain locally family owned and operated.

We are attentive to the needs of the bereaved and to the strong traditions of the Jewish People.

This ribbon is not a fashion statement...

This ribbon represents your loss, your grief, your mourning of a loved one.

At Yates Funeral Home & Crematory we understand. We have been providing our services to the Jewish Community of the Treasure Coast for over 75 years.

We know what this ribbon means and how to provide you the services you want for your loved one, from traditional to contemporary or anything in between. What you would want; how you want yourself or a loved one to be honored, respected and remembered.
