From the Desk of Rabbi Bruce Benson

L'Shana Tova Tikateyvu - May you be written in the book of life. We are about to enter into the High Holiday "season". We start our "New Year" with a wish that the person we are speaking to will, hopefully, let us be written in the Book of Life for another year.

We spend our holidays reawakening our hearts to the fulfillment of that wish yet, what do we do with that wish? For others - do we take advantage of the next year and perform mitzvot of caring, sharing and doing? Or is it more talking about, passing stories about, watching from a distance when another needs help. Sometimes what they need is peace and solitude - do we see that or are we inserting ourselves in their lives for our own needs? Perhaps it's possible for us this year to learn the Art of Selfless Giving.

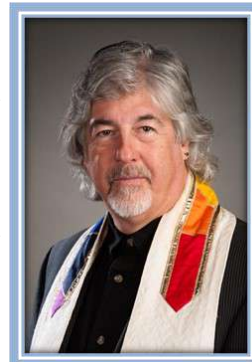

A Mitzvah a Day - looking around for a way to be helpful without intruding, a way to support those in spiritual need, being helpful to one with a physical need, being an ear to those needing emotional support. Play a bit of a game - a challenge if you will - this year. On your new temple calendar (available at the temple) see how many days you can put a small "M" on your calendar for a mitzvah, properly done.

The world stands because, according to the Rabbinic writings, of the Lamed-vavniks 36 - (ל"ו or double-chai). It is because of their deeds that humanity continues to exist. The predicament is that we don't know WHO they are, and neither do they. If you've pondered or even wondered if you could possibly be one - you're not...It is for others to ponder and wonder and God to judge.

Your actions - your doing, (forgive me - your Jewing) that will allow God to consider you for induction into the 36...If you start, just start, to come close, at the end of Yom Kippur, when the words: May you be written in the book of Life are uttered; you will notice one word is changed - written is changed to the more important and lasting inscription: May you be INSCRIBED in the book of life. Your deeds will be the arbiter of whether or not you are being considered for membership. And remember little mmmmmmmmmmm's add up.

Let us change our wishes to actions!! One a day....

L'Shana Tova Tikateyvu - May you be inscribed this year....
It'll take a little more work, but it's worth it...

Rabbi Bruce

The President's Message.....

Clarification of our High Holy Days plan was sent to our membership in order to clear up any questions that you may have asked. And we are once again asking for your understanding and cooperation during this pandemic that is still impacting us.

We will be live streaming our Holiday services in real time (at the scheduled time of the service) on our Facebook page. Simply download the Facebook app if you are not already on Facebook and type in Temple Beth El Israel in the search bar. If you need help, please let us know.

We will be celebrating Sukkot on Tuesday, September 21st at 6 p.m. (outdoors in our Sukkah) and Simchat Torah on September 28th at 6 p.m.

We will be distributing the High Holiday prayer books on Friday, September 3rd between 1 and 4 p.m. so you can follow the services at home. You just have to drive up to our front doors and pick up your book(s). Please return the books on September 17th during the same hours in the same way.

Please honor the difficult decisions of your Board of Directors. These measures have been taken for the protection and health of all of our members and friends.

Wishing you a Happy, Healthy and Safe New Year 5782 - L'Shanah Tova.

SISTERHOOD NEWS

We would like to wish everyone a Healthy and Happy New Year.

Unfortunately, due to a rise in Covid cases we have had to move some of our upcoming fundraising events and programs around. We hope that we will resume programs in the fall.

As we write this we just had our long-awaited summer Luncheon/Card Party. Thank you to everyone for your support and for helping to advertise and promote this fundraiser.

Again, please stay healthy and if you are not vaccinated PLEASE get your shot.
Hope to see you soon.

L'Shanah Tovah.

SISTERHOOD THANK YOU FROM SUSAN SCHLEIN

We did it!! We had our first Sisterhood fundraiser since March 14, 2019. The ladies who attended had a fun afternoon. People always tell me what a great job I did, but it's not me. I have the ideas, but I have the best bunch of ladies who I can always count on for help putting my ideas into motion. They also give me input on how they think things should be done. They show up early to set up, check people in, serve the food and clean up. This time we had an extra, we checked Covid cards at the door. We wanted to make sure that everyone in attendance was vaccinated and it worked. So a heartfelt "thank you" to Eve and Lenny Epstein who always does our Lucky Bucks, Doris Haendel, Karol Levine, Ferne Barishman, Fran Tama, Linda Chazin, Belle Sidel and Maryann Polk.

Our next event is our Dinner Show on November 6, 2021. This is a tribute show to Billy Joel and Elton John. Tickets are on sale in the Temple office.

THE STAMP CORNER

The High Holy Days

by Ellis Bromberg

This month's Stamp Corner features a set of three postage stamps issued by Israel in 2012 that mark the High Holy Days with depictions of key events that occur during Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, and Sukkot. This year, all three holidays fall in September (during the month of Tishrei on the Jewish Calendar).

The Rosh Hashanah stamp features the act of Tashlikh. On the afternoon of the first day of Rosh Hashanah (this year, September 7), it is customary to go to the seashore or some other body of water and symbolically cast away any sins that have accrued during the past year. Tashlikh means "cast off" in Hebrew, and the practice stems from the biblical verse, "You shall cast all their sins into the depths of the sea" (Micah 7:19). Some participants throw breadcrumbs they bring in their pockets into the water and then shake out their clothing as a symbol of shaking off or renouncing their transgressions.

The Yom Kippur stamp depicts the recitation of the Kol Nidrei prayer, which opens services on Erev Yom Kippur (this year, September 15). Kol Nidrei, which means "all vows" in Aramaic, expresses repentance for all vows, oaths, and promises made to God, but unfulfilled, during the year. In a unique and moving ceremony, the cantor, rabbi, and musicians repeat the prayer three times, chanting it with a special melody. Worshippers wrap themselves in their tallit prayer shawls; it is the only time during the year that the tallit is worn during an evening prayer service.

The Sukkot stamp shows a worshipper "bearing the lulav (palm frond)." During the Sukkot morning prayer (this year, the first day of Sukkot is September 21), worshippers bless four plants mentioned in the Torah: "On the first day you shall take the product of citron trees, branches of palm leaves, boughs of leafy trees, and willows of the brook" (Leviticus 23:40). The custom is called "bearing the lulav" because the palm frond is the largest and most prominent of the four species. The palm branches, braided together, are held in the right hand, and an etrog (citron) is held in the left hand; the two are brought together and shaken in unison.

Benjamin & Jacob Rosichan Nader will become a B'nai Mitzvah on October 9th 2021. They are currently 8th grade students at Lincoln Park Academy. They have really persevered through the last year and a half through virtual schooling and all the new challenges they faced and are still facing through this pandemic. They both developed a love for basketball the past year and attended JCC Maccabi Sports camp in San Francisco for two and a half weeks this past summer. The camp helped them embrace Judaism, make new friends and enjoy the love of sports. They are both planning to volunteer with the Boys and Girls club and help with the younger students starting in the fall by tutoring and assisting the staff. They both embrace family and enjoy hanging out with big sister Liana who was a Bat Mitzvah three years ago. Benjamin and Jacob both strive for excellence and have personalities that will make your heart melt. We are looking forward to what the next year will bring. The boys have been working hard to prepare for their Bar-Mitzvah and we are excited to share this special day as they transition into young men.

Our Monthly TBEI Library Book Review.....by Sheilah Korinow

This has been an unbelievable year. It seems to have flown by quickly - I can't fathom that the High Holydays are almost here. From all of the problems we have faced over the past 12 months dealing with Covid, two good things have come out of them. We are fortunate to have the vaccine to better protect us and we are now able to worship in our sanctuary in person on Shabbat with proof of the COVID vaccination and masks and social distancing.

In a way, we are also fortunate that this season provides us with the sweetness from the many foods we will eat. As a result, this month's book review will provide the possibility of adding more sweetness into our lives.

The recipe below is from Richard Schnabolk's second three-ring binder full of recipes which is named Jewish Apple Cake* (you might remember his delicious collection of kugel recipes I shared with you for Shavuot). Actually, his note-book contains not only "Jewish Apple Cakes", but also "Apple Cakes". You might ask: what's the difference between the two? Easy answer! "Jewish Apple Cake" is pareve and can be used with both meat and dairy meals, but an "Apple Cake" contains dairy ingredients and is not used with meat meals if you are more traditional. Variations of both kinds of cake are found in this book.

Let me give you a recipe which uses two symbols of the New Year – apples and honey. It appears in Richard's binder and was originally printed in The Washington Post.

Apple Cake with Honey Sauce ***

4-5 firm apples, peeled and cut into 1/4-inch slices

1 cup of canola oil

2 tsp cinnamon

4 large eggs

2 1/4 cups sugar

1/3 cup of orange juice

3 cups flour, plus more for dusting the pan

1/2 tsp salt

1 Tbs of baking powder

2 1/2 tsp vanilla extract

1. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees

2. Lightly grease and flour a 10-inch tube pan.

3. In a medium bowl, combine the cinnamon and 1/4 cup of the sugar

4. Add the apples and toss to combine. Set aside

5. In a large bowl, using an electric mixer on medium speed, combine the remaining sugar, flour, baking powder, oil, eggs, orange juice, salt and vanilla extract

6. Beat just until the batter is smooth

7. Pour an inch of the batter into the prepared pan and top it with a layer of apple slices, taking care not to let the apples touch the side of the pan: then add alternating layers of apple slices and batter, ending with the batter. You should have 4 layers of batter and 3 of apples.

8. Bake for 1 1/2 hours, or until a toothpick inserted in the cake comes out clean

9. Cool in the pan for 30 minutes on a wire rack, then turn the cake out onto the rack to cool thoroughly

Ingredients for the honey sauce*:

1 cup honey

1 cup apple juice or cider

For the honey sauce:

1. In a medium saucepan over medium-high heat, combine the honey and apple juice or cider and bring to a boil.

2. Stirring constantly, continue boiling until the mixture thickens, 1 to 2 minutes.

3. For a thicker sauce, reduce the heat to low and cook, stirring a few minutes more, until it reaches the desired consistency

Serve the cake with the warm honey sauce on the side or with whipped cream.

Here are a few other examples of what is included in the binder. I give both summary statements and specific examples.

1. Cakes using alcohol such as rum brandy or bourbon

2. Many are Bundt or tube cakes

3. Some mention specific types of apples to use, and one even uses apples and pears

4. Some cakes have glazes, such as maple glaze, cider glaze, and one that uses a sauce made up of butter, brown sugar and cream

5. There are cakes that use additional ingredients such as pumpkin pie spice, raisins, currants, coconut, and even cream cheese.

The photos are great, guaranteed to make you want to start baking. These cakes are perfect to make for Rosh Hashana, for the Yom Kippur break-fast, or for any time of the year. There are so many different varieties of cakes to look at which will ensure what we yearn for - a sweet(er) New Year!

Wishing you all a Happy, Healthy, and Sweet New Year.
