From the Desk of Rabbi Bruce Benson

September always brings with it the known and the unknown. The known, whether we agree with its lessons taught over the years or disagree, brings with it levels of comfort as we are comforted by the acknowledgement of accepted security.

The unknown brings a different set of challenges to the table. Our lives are colored by new choices to have to make, new facts to discern and add to the list of our defining truths.

TBEI has entered into a wonderful inflexion point of being able to define many new beginnings in our communal life.

Due to the extreme kindness of our late member Richard Schnabolk, he created a Legacy gift that has not only helped secure our financial future, but part of that gift you will see from the moment you turn into our parking lot. The building is being "spruced up" in a way that has never been approached in all our years of ownership of the building, From resurfacing to painting to updating equipment and so much more, there is a new life within our 4 walls. We, the Jewish community of PSL is rising like a phoenix from a gray zone that was always holding us back.

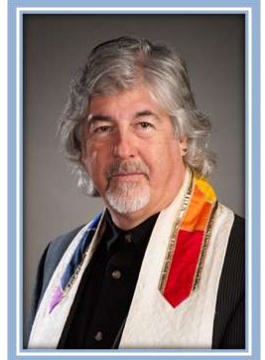

It should only be so in our spiritual lives as well this year.

Amongst many things, our programming will be expanding substantially to encourage members to have many more options to take advantage of from adult ed. Classes, social events, learning opportunities and many more things that will enrich the lives of our current members and allow us to reach out to prospective new members.

The imminent arrival of a CZECH Holocaust Torah scroll will be an apex moment for the synagogue and community. You will hear more about that in the near future and we look forward to the community taking the opportunity to participate.

In the meantime, it is appropriate to begin the process of preparing for the High Holidays. This year, we will begin to transition to the use of the sanctuary screens to present the new version of the High Holiday prayerbook. The Second day of Rosh haShanah will use the screens as we begin to experience new visions of what the High Holiday prayers will sound like and the images they will present to us as we move forward into the New Year. I look forward to sharing this new vision with you on Rosh Hashana day 2.

"A good year"

The President's Message.....

The High Holidays are a time of reflection and growth. A time to reflect on the past, identify areas of growth, and develop a plan forward with Adonai.

As I reflect on this past year here at Temple Beth El Israel, I can't help but to feel hope. Hope for how much we have grown and progressed as a congregation and hope for our future.

This past year, we were given the greatest gift in our temple's history...a "bereshit", a new beginning.

In many ways our future has been renewed. Our building is in the best condition it has been in twenty years. Our congregation is growing and the whole Jewish community in Port St Lucie is growing along with it. This is a very exciting time to be a member of TBEI and I can't wait to see what the year 5783 will bring us. If it's half as good as 5782, it's going to be a great year.

L'shana tova!!

I also look forward to seeing you all at our S'LICHOT service on Saturday evening September 17 at 8:00 pm. That will signal the beginning of the holiday season and focus us on the act of reviewing our lives this last year and seeing how examining our own lives can bring us closer to a more God pleasing life.

Let our prayers be more successful this year than in years past. Let the prayers feel, and sound, new as we refocus our labors towards an even more successful answer to those prayers.

Shanah tovah umtukah.

THE STAMP CORNER

THE LONG TRADITION OF JEWISH NEW YEAR'S DAY CARDS ~ by Ellis Bromberg

The sending of Christmas/New Year's cards in America and Europe has been a well-established tradition since the 19th century. In the U.S., approximately 1.3 billion cards are mailed each year, and in the U.K., the Royal Mail estimates it delivers 150 million cards during the Christmas period. Besides the British and Americans, the Dutch, the Danes, the Finns, and the French send the most Christmas cards per household.

But contrary to popular belief, Jewish New Year cards predate the Christian tradition by several centuries, and today, hundreds of thousands of cards celebrating Rosh Hashanah are mailed every year throughout the Jewish world.

In 2022, Rosh Hashanah begins on the evening of Sunday, September 25 (the 29th of Elul, 5782), and ends on the evening of Tuesday, September 27 (the 2nd of Tishrei, 5783). This month, we feature a three-set issue of Israeli commemoratives that depict three vintage Jewish New Year postcards, one each from Poland, Germany, and the United States.

As far back as 14th century Germany, rabbis recommended that letters sent during the month of Elul open with the blessing "May you be inscribed and sealed for a good year." This German-Jewish custom reached even broader popularity with the invention, in 1869, of the postal card, and within a few years, illustrations with beloved and familiar topics were added to the plain postcard.

Today, most New Year's cards are greeting cards mailed in envelopes, but that wasn't the case at the turn of the 20th century. Then, most were postcards, and the illustrations on this month's featured stamps are from actual postcards.

In the United States, two major changes in postal policy led to what was called the "postal card craze" which spanned about 20 years, and corresponded with the flourishing of the Jewish New Year postcard in the U.S. and Europe. In 1898, the rate to send a postcard was lowered by the U.S. Post Office Department to one cent (it had been two cents, the same as the charge for letters); then, in 1899, the U.S. launched Rural Free Delivery, which enabled home mail pickup and delivery at all residences, obviating a long trip to the nearest post office.

The cards were printed primarily in Germany, Poland, and the U.S. The makers of the Jewish cards in Warsaw preferred to depict the religious life of Eastern European Jewry; though the images on their cards were often theatrically staged in a studio with amateur actors, they preserve views and customs lost in the Holocaust. German cards were frequently illustrated with biblical themes, such as the Giving of the Law or the Binding of Isaac. In the United States, the mass immigration of Jews from Eastern Europe in the first decades of the 20th century gave a new boost to the production of the cards. The colorful and elaborate new cards, primarily printed in New York City, depicted America as the new homeland, widely opening her arms to immigrants; other American cards emphasized the Zionist ideology and depicted contemporary views of Israel.

The three stamps in this month's featured set are reproductions of Jewish New Year cards from the turn of the 20th century. The Polish card (1.20 shekels stamp) shows a boy kneeling by a girl, giving her a gift. The German card (1.90 shekels stamp) depicts a young woman holding the Zionist blue and white flag. The American card (2.30 shekels stamp) shows a young man presenting a young woman with flowers and New Year's greetings. The original postcards are part of an impressive collection assembled by Hayim Shtayer, a graphic designer and collector from Haifa. In 2001, Israel issued a similar set of New Year card stamps; the second set, also from Shtayer's collection, features artwork created in Israel during its first years of independence. Appropriately, both sets were issued in time for Rosh Hashanah mailings in 2000 and 2001.

Honoring JEWISH HERITAGE

THE U.S. AND THE HOLOCAUST

Premieres September 18, 19 and 20, at 8PM with an encore at 10PM
on WPBT & WXEL

A new three-part documentary directed and produced by Ken Burns, Lynn Novick and Sarah Botstein explores America's response to one of the greatest humanitarian crises in history. Narrated by Peter Coyote. Voice Actors Include Liam Neeson, Matthew Rhys, Helena Zengel, Paul Giamatti, Meryl Streep, Werner Herzog, Joe Morton, Hope Davis, Bradley Whitford and Helena Zengel.

Inspired in part by the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's "Americans and the Holocaust" exhibition and supported by its historical resources, the film examines the rise of Hitler and Nazism in Germany in the context of global antisemitism and racism, the eugenics movement in the United States and race laws in the American south. The series, written by Geoffrey Ward, sheds light on what the U.S. government and American people knew and did as the catastrophe unfolded in Europe.

"History cannot be looked at in isolation," stated Ken Burns. "While we rightly celebrate American ideals of democracy and our history as a nation of immigrants, we must also grapple with the fact that American institutions and policies, like segregation and the brutal treatment of indigenous populations, were influential in Hitler's Germany. And it cannot be denied that, although we accepted more refugees than any other sovereign nation, America could have done so much more to help the millions of desperate people fleeing Nazi persecution."

BIG SONIA

Monday, September 5 at 10PM on WPBT

Standing tall at 4'8", Sonia is one of the last remaining Holocaust survivors in Kansas City and one of the only survivors there who speaks publicly about her wartime experience. Sonia's enormous personality and fragile frame mask the horrors she endured. At 15, she watched her mother disappear behind gas chamber doors. Sonia's teenage years were a blur of concentration camps and death marches. On Liberation Day, she was accidentally shot through the chest, yet again miraculously survived.

NOBODY WANTS US

Monday, September 22 at 10PM on WXEL

In September 1940, 86 exhausted Jewish European refugees were trapped on the Steamship Quanza in the port of Hampton Roads, Virginia. They were hoping to be allowed on American soil - where millions of others in distress had safely landed before them. Times had changed, however, and America was turning away refugees at this critical time in history. Would these families be turned away too?

A CALL TO REMEMBER

Thursday, September 29 at 10:30PM on WXEL

David Schaecter shares his life story from a childhood amidst vineyards in Czechoslovakia to his struggle for survival in Auschwitz and eventual dramatic escape from the Nazis. The only member of his family to survive the Holocaust, David would eventually immigrate to the United States. Through his story, viewers witness the cruelty of intolerance, but also the power and will of the human spirit.

The History of the Talis

The Talis....a religious symbol....a garment....a shroud....a canopy.... cloak which envelopes both physically and spiritually.

In prayer and celebration....joy and sorrow....the talis has followed us through the centuries. The Talis is present at all of the major occasions in our lives: circumcision, bar/bat mitzvah, wedding and burial.

Throughout the ages various styles of talasim arose. Yemenite Jews have an all black talis which is worn during a period of mourning - German Jews wear an all white talis on Yom Kippur. Old Talisim are scarce because of the beautiful tradition: burial in the talis a man had prayed in.

Today's talis is from ancient garb; it has its origin in the biblical commandment to wear fringes. In the desert the ancient Bedouins wore woven cloaks not unlike the four-cornered Abaya they wear currently. Putting fringes on their garments was one of the first commandments fulfilled by the Israelites after Moses descended from Sinai with the Torah.

As styles changed religious Jews quickly designed special four-cornered garments to preserve this symbol of the commandments. The talis has been a Jewish tradition for centuries and it was believed that beauty added to religious experiences.

Our Monthly TBEI Library Book Review.....by Sheilah Korinow

The High Holy days are around the corner. Unbelievable! I think I am now a firm believer in the words "time flies". Who knew a year could go by so quickly?

For my Rosh Hashanah book selection, I am returning to the cookbook which I used for Passover recipes - L'Dor V'Dor. But for the New Year, I have chosen one recipe which uses honey as one of its main ingredients, and another uses both apples and honey. I hope you will enjoy them and decide to use at least one of them for the upcoming holidays.

The first recipe is for a main meal, located on page 80 –

"East Honey Chicken".

1 cup honey

1/2 tsp regular mustard

2T. curry powder

3-1b. chicken

Mix honey, mustard and curry in a large baking dish. Coat chicken in mixture. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Turn to glaze underside for at least 5 minutes. Serve over rice. Easy and yummy.

If you prefer a slightly different honey-mustard recipe, another one is located on the next page. It uses Dijon-style mustard and possibly onion and garlic. The choice is yours!

The second recipe is one which uses apples and honey, located at the bottom of page 15 –

"Kugel".

1 C. cottage cheese

1 C. sour cream

8 oz. cream cheese

5 eggs, beaten

2C. apples, chopped

1/2 C. honey or sugar

1 tsp. ground cinnamon

1/2 tsp. salt

7 C. (16 oz.) wide egg noodles, cooked and drained

1/2 C. (1 stick) butter, melted

1/2 C. raisins, optional

Mix the first 8 ingredients together in a large bowl until well blended. Add noodles, apples and raisins. Mix well. Spoon into a greased 13x9" baking dish. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar, if desired. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 55 minutes or until set. Serves 12.

Besides the above two recipes, this book has some others you might find interesting for Rosh Hashanah. I will list them below with the corresponding page on which you will find them.

Apple Tarte - pg. 131

German Apple Cake - pg. 131

Taiglach - pg. 144

Rosh Hashanah Chicken - pg. 145

Holiday Compote - pg. 145

Spicy Chiffon Honey Cake - pg. 145

I hope many of you will use a new recipe for the New Year. Perhaps one of them will be from this book. They will surely find a good home on your holiday table among your other prepared dishes that have appeared in the past. If you would like to check out L'Dor V'Dor from our library, please contact me at skorinow@gmail.com or call me at 772-871-0030.

Wishing you all a Happy and Healthy New Year!
